阅读下面短文, 掌握其大意, 然后从各题所给的 A、B、C、D 四个选项中选出最佳选项。

One Sunday, I walked to the supermarket. As usual, there I picked all things on the shopping list my mother gave me. As I turned to go out, I saw a beautiful dress in the window. I turned away, feeling sad that I could 36 own (拥有) such a dress.

Outside, I couldn't take my mind off that dress. I worked so hard to help my family but I got 37 in return, just more housework to do. I was so angry that I 38 to realise the apples were falling out of the bag onto the road. Suddenly, I saw a pair of hands, 39 me two of the apples. I looked up and saw a homeless old man. His clothes were old. But his eyes were soft and kind.

"Thanks," I said. No other words were spoken as he 40 to help me. Soon all the apples were back in the bag. I said "thank you" one more time and was ready to leave 41 I had many other things to finish. Suddenly, he said, "Have a good day". And then he gave me the biggest 42 I had ever seen. Right then, he looked years younger – and I felt such a fool.

Seeing him disappear into the crowd, I couldn't stop feeling 43 for myself. The homeless old man "taught" me so much. Life was never easy for him. He had reminded (提醒) me with his big smile that my life was good enough, and there were worse things than not having a dress.

My mother will give me the list next Sunday. I will make the same 44 to the supermarket and probably see something I want but cannot have, too. But before I start to feel down, I will 45 the kind stranger with the big smile.

A

Toby was a 13-year-old boy. He studied in a middle school in Paris. He was quite a clever boy and was good at almost everything. However, he had a problem. He had a fear (恐惧) of heights. This problem made him unhappy for a long time. He talked to his father about it one day.

"I've had enough, Dad," he said. "I would love to go rock climbing with my friends. But every time I get too high, I feel afraid."

His dad paused (停顿) as he thought about his son's ▲.

"Well, Toby," he said quietly, "I can help you. But you will need to be brave. Are you ready?"

Toby was quiet for a few minutes.

"I am ready!" he answered bravely.

Toby's father picked up the keys and walked towards the front door.

"We're going into the city!" his father said.

Toby knew what was coming. Toby lived in Paris. One of the world's tallest buildings was there. That was the Eiffel Tower. Nothing was said between them as they drove into the city.

After about an hour, they arrived at the Eiffel Tower. Toby looked up at it.

"Can I really do this?" he asked worriedly.

"Well," his father said, "I will be with you every step of the way. This is the day that you fight your fear! Come on!"

Toby took a breath. His father held his hand and then they made their way, step by step, towards the top of the Eiffel Tower. At last, they got to the top.

"Wow, Dad!" he said excitedly as he looked over Paris.

"I told you there was nothing to worry about," his father said.

B

Last summer I went to one of the world's most famous historical places, the Forbidden City in Beijing, China. It was the home of the emperors (皇帝) of the last two dynasties (朝代) in China, the Ming and Qing Dynasties.

The Forbidden City was built in 1,420. The palace has over 10,000 rooms. It was where the emperors dealt with the official business with their ministers (大臣).

In Mandarin (普通话), the Forbidden City is called the Purple Forbidden City. However, the color of the palace itself is not purple. The color purple stands for power of the great emperors of China. It was so sacred (神圣的) that the common people could not even dream of ever going in.

The emperor also had some of the largest festival celebrations at the Forbidden City. During Chinese New Year, the emperor would invite all the members of his family and his officials to a banquet. The banquet had a hundred and eight Chinese dishes. It was such an expensive banquet that it could feed a common family for three generations (三代人).

Right now the Forbidden City is known as a historical site for tourists from all over the world. Everyone can go in there. It is a museum with priceless Chinese antiques (古董) and treasures in it.

I really learned a lot about the Chinese culture and its history from this trip to the Forbidden City. It was like a dream which has come true. And I was excited to go on the trip and see the things that I had always wanted to see.

51. How long is the history of the Forbidden City?
A. About 600 years. B. More than 600 years.
C. 1,420 years. D. Over 10,000 years.
52. We call the palace the Purple Forbidden City because the color purple is the symbol for _____ of the emperor.
A. power B. beauty C. interest D. health
53. What's the Chinese meaning of the word "banquet" in Paragraph 4?
A. performance B. competition C. exhibition D. dinner party
54. Which of the following is NOT TRUE about the Forbidden City in the passage?
A. The emperor lived there.
B. The wall of the Forbidden City was purple.
C. It is a historical place for visiting.
D. The emperor had festival celebrations there.
55. In the passage, the writer wants to show us _____ of the Forbidden City by comparing its past with present.
A. the beauty B. the treasures
C. the changes in use D. the building process

C

Soon computers and other machines will be able to remember you by looking at your eyes! The program works because everyone's eyes are different. So in the future you won't have to remember a number when you want to use a machine or take money out of a bank. You'll just have to look at the machine and it will be able to tell who you are.

The eye-recognition (眼睛识别) program has already been tested in shops and banks in the USA, Britain, Spain, Italy and Turkey. Soon this technology will take the place of all other ways of finding out who people are.

Eye-recognition is a course of recognizing iris (虹膜), which includes the following steps. First, a kind of machine needs to collect different examples of one's iris from his eyes and store them. Second, when this person goes to the bank to take out money, this machine will have iris feature extraction (采集). Then, this machine will compare the examples kept in it with iris feature extraction. Once the examples and the feature extraction are the same, this person will be identified (识别), and he will take out the money from the bank successfully.

However, scientists are also working on other systems. Machines will soon be able to know you from the shape of your face or hand or even your smell! We have already had machines that can tell who you are from your voice or the mark made by your finger. Eye-recognition is better than other kinds because your eyes don't change as you get older, and don't get dirty like hands or fingers, and even twins have different eyes. So the eye-recognition program can be up to 94% correct, depending on how good the technology is. However, some other programs may only be 51% correct now. In Britain, it was found that 91% of people who had tried it said that they liked the idea of eye-recognition.

In the future your computer will be looking at you in the eye. So smile!

56. How does the eye-recognition program work?

- A. You look at the machine. B. You say your name.
C. You type in your number. D. You show your ID card.

57. Which recognition program has been already tested in shops and banks according to the passage?

- A. Remembering smells. B. Remembering fingerprints.
C. Remembering the shape of faces. D. Remembering eyes.

58. Put the sentences in the right order according to the passage.

- a. The man will take out the money from the bank successfully.
b. This machine will compare the examples kept in it with iris feature extraction.
c. A kind of machine needs to collect different examples of one's iris from his eyes and store them.
d. Once the examples and the feature extraction are the same, this person will be identified.
e. When this person goes to the bank to take out money, this machine will have iris feature extraction.

- A. c-d-b-a-e B. b-d-c-a-e C. c-e-b-d-a D. b-e-d-c-a

59. Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage?

- A. The eye-recognition program can be up to 51% correct.
B. In Britain, 91% of people said that they liked the idea of eye-recognition.
C. Everyone's eyes are different, and even twins have different eyes.
D. The eye-recognition program is widely used now.

60. What's the passage mainly about?

- A. Tell people how the eye-recognition program works and what advantages it has.
- B. We have already had machines that can tell who you are from your voice.
- C. You won't have to remember a number when you take money out of a bank.
- D. Scientists are working on the voice-recognition system.

Have you ever thought about making a bicycle that you dream of? Some creative people have invented some special bicycles. Here are three of them.

Bambikes

Bambikes are produced in a company in Philippines. They are made of an unusual kind of bamboo and other materials like metal and a local plant. They are very strong. And they are a perfect combination (结合) of the greenest building material and common bicycles. By making bambikes, the company offers jobs to the local people. Besides, it provides money for some students in its community to pay for their study. To continue the production, the company plants more bamboo than it cuts.

The heaviest bicycle

A German cycling lover, Frank Dose, has recently made the world's heaviest bicycle with big old wheels and lots of other waste materials. He created it just because he made a bet (打赌) with his friend. The bicycle weighed 1.08 tones. It broke the world record of its kind in weight. Frank said his bicycle was surprisingly easy to ride although it had a huge size and weighed a lot. He rode it in front of 5,000 people for over 100 meters to prove it.

Twisted (变形的) bicycles

Two brothers in France created a bike that looks strange to ride and twists in the middle. Riders can make tight turns (急转弯). The brothers say the bicycle is hard to ride so it can stop people from stealing it. In fact, it isn't as hard to control as you think. It takes a day or two to get used to the crazy way of riding. It's amazing. So far, there have been 30 of the bicycles, but they are not for sale yet.

71. Some creative people _____ some special bicycles.
